MYSTERY CLOUDS BENWITZ DEATH

DIED THIS MORNING AT THE FT. ATKINSON HOSPITAL.

FOUND NEAR THE TRACKS

Left Watertown For Janesville Saturday Night—Found Between Jefferson and Ft. Atkinson Yesterday Morning.

Found lying beside the Northwestern tracks near Ft. Atkinson, Sunday, in an unconscious condition and dying this morning in the Ft. Atkinson hospital without recovering his senses, the mystery which surrounded the death of Albert H. Benwitz remains yet to be solved.

Benwitz, a former lawyer by trade, has been working in Watertown for the past six weeks and with two weeks' pay in his pocket, bought a ticket for Janesville last Saturday. He is supposed to have boarded the passenger train Saturday night at Watertown, reaching here about noon. Whether he fell from the moving train, was robbed and thrown off or how he happened to be lying beside the tracks, so injured he died this morning, has not yet been discovered.

The first word of the Benwitz accident came from the chief of police at Ft. Atkinson yesterday, who notified John C. Nichols, President of the Eagles, of which order Benwitz was a member. Mrs. Benwitz was immediately notified but was unable to get a train to the Port and when she reached that city this morning her husband was dead.

But four dollars in money was found on his person and while his face was badly bruised, it was not injured. Evidently sustained when he struck the ground that caused his death. It is probable that he lay unconscious beside the tracks from Saturday night until found Sunday and brought to the Port on a hand car.

The funeral will be on Wednesday. He leaves a widow and three children Otto, Ernest and Edna who reside at 528 South Franklin street. The remains reached this city this noon.

CONFERENCE HAS MANY PROBLEMS

QUESTIONS RELATIVE TO UNITED STATES BONDS.

THE CORPORATION TAX

This is Accepted By Both House After It Has Been Redrafted By The Attorney General.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, July 19.—How to protect from any serious depreciation, the outstanding United States bonds, is the intricate problem which confronts congress in connection with authorization of the new issue and it is thought its solution can only be effected through some equitable adjustment of a tax on circulation.

At its forenoon session today the conference committee on the tariff bill agreed to accept the Senate's corporation tax amendment but an agreement had been reached until after the provision had been redrafted by the attorney general and many changes made.

The most important of changes was the reduction of a tax from two per cent. on net earnings of corporations to one per cent. The corporation tax amendment will take the place of the provision for an inheritance tax which, according to today's agreement will go out of the bill.

Former President Roosevelt, to judge from a letter received from him by a friend in the city is having quite a successful and interesting trip as he is anticipated although he apparently has a touch of nostalgia now and then.

MANY AMERICANS AT THE BATH PAGEANT

No More Brilliant Throng Has Assembled at English Watering Place Since Days of Beau Nash.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, July 19.—Not even in the days of the celebrated Beau Nash did over a gayer or more brilliant crowd assemble at Bath than that which gathered at the historic watering place today for the opening of the week's historical pageant. Not the least interesting feature of the attendance was the presence of a host of pretty American matrons and maidens representing the cities and towns of Bath and not to be omitted during the week as the guests of the city after which their home towns were named.

HENEY HAS CALHOUN UPON GRILL AGAIN

President of United Railways Will Spend Heated Session in the Courts at San Francisco.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, Cal., July 19.—With but a few weeks' intermission since the end of his first trial, which was one of the longest trials in record in the criminal courts in this country, Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railways and a man of national prominence as a capitalist and promoter, faces the prospect of spending the remainder of July and August in the courtroom undergoing the grueling cross-examination of Prosecutor Henev.

Calhoun's case was called in court today and the indications are that the trial will proceed without delay. He is to be tried on charges of having offered a bribe to a supervisor to vote for an overhead trolley permit in 1905. This is the second trial on the same charge. The first trial resulted in a hung jury.

The arrival of the train at the New Jersey end of the tube was greeted by a deafening roar of whistles from factories and river craft. FISHER GAINS IN COURT DECISION Judgment in favor of the plaintiff, in the case of T. U. Fisher vs. the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was rendered by Judge Field in municipal court this morning at 11 o'clock. Damages amounting to $121.23 were ordered paid to the plaintiff, while the costs, $20.87, are to be borne by the railroad.

The case, which was instituted last January, arose over the alleged damage done to stock in shipment from Chicago to Janesville. The case was postponed several times, and different attorneys, including W. G. Wheeler and M. O. Mount, have had charge for the plaintiff. The case was finally tried in municipal court, July 3 and 5. T. U. Fisher, counsel for the railroad, offering no evidence, but submitting it on the evidence of the plaintiff and his witnesses only.

Mr. Nolan stated this morning that it was probable that an appeal would be taken at once to the circuit court for Rock county when the defense will offer the testimony of witnesses from the Chicago stock yards, an action omitted in the late trial in view of the fact that in any event, the case would have been appealed.

OPENED BIDS TODAY FOR NEW BUILDING

Opened Today.—Engineering and Dairy Buildings to Have New Wings.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., July 19.—Bids for the erection of two new buildings on the campus of the University of Wisconsin will be opened. A wing at the west end of the engineering building, to cost about $45,000, and one on east side of the dairy building, to cost some $25,000, with the new forestry buildings, just begun, and Lathrop Hall (the new women's building) nearing completion, make four new buildings on the campus this fall.

Wing for Engineering Building.

Several of the departments of the college of engineering, which have hitherto been hampered by lack of space, on account of the increasingly large enrollment in the engineering courses each year, will be given more commodious quarters when the new wing of the engineering building is completed next spring. Ultimately, it is planned, there will be a similar wing of the engineering building in present third story, which is an attic used for drafting rooms, will be raised to a full story at both ends of the building.

The new wing will be built of the same pressed brick as the rest of the building, trimmed like it with Bedford stone and terra-cotta cornices, and roofed with slate. The final dimensions will be about 40x70 feet, extending the basement and full three stories north over the ground now occupied by the steam engineering laboratory in the basement.

In the basement there is to be a big machine shop, 58x30, a storage battery room, electrical laboratory for experiment, offices and store rooms. The main floor will accommodate, besides the present large reading room, four new recitation rooms and five offices all much needed at present. The second floor is to contain five recitation rooms, eight offices, and a conference room for the seniors.

On the third floor a feature of the new arrangement made possible by the additional space is that giving a large separate drafting room to the juniors in civil engineering, two to the juniors in the same course, and one to the juniors of the course in mining engineering. There will also be a reference room, and five offices.

A half-height fourth floor is also to be a part of the new wing, in order to accommodate the necessary general drawing rooms, four in number, with filing room, an instructor's office, blue print and model rooms, a recitation room and two extra offices.

New Wing to Dairy Building.

Blum-Smith Hall, commonly called the dairy building, is to have a 40x30 wing built at the east (behind) on the site of the old frame structure now used as a curing house for the cheeses, which will be torn down at once. It is to be built of the same materials as the main building, being of stucco, trimmed with timbers and roofed with red tile. The main building is to be roofed with tile also, so that it will be uniform in that respect with the other buildings of the agricultural group.

Will Contain Dairy Laboratory.

The addition is to be designated as the dairy laboratory for work on milk, cream and cheese, since the first story will be entirely occupied with laboratories. There will also be a large laboratory in the basement, beside the general storage rooms. On the second floor there will be a large lecture room for the use of the professors of the dairy courses and their classes, and an apparatus room and two locker rooms.

The contract calls for the completion of the building within six months after the award.

SECOND INQUIRY IN SUTTON CASE

MADE AT REQUEST OF DEAD
LIEUTENANT'S MOTHER

IS STARTED AT ANNAPOLIS

Former Verdict of Suicide Was Not Satisfactory to Relatives and Friends.

Sutton Tragedy in Outline.

Lieut. James N. Sutton of the Marine Corps died as a result of a wound in the head caused by a pistol shot on October 13, 1907.

Lieut. Sutton is said to have quarrelled with a brother officer as they, accompanied by several other officers, were returning in an automobile from a dance at Annapolis to the barracks.

There was a fight after the party left the automobile in which Sutton is said to have been unharmed.

He was shot at Lieut. Robert E. Adams of the Marine Corps, but did not strike him.

According to the testimony Sutton, who had been thrown to the ground in the fracas, then shot himself in the head.

A board of officers appointed to investigate Sutton's death rendered a verdict that he had committed suicide.

The case has been reopened on request of Lieut. Sutton's mother, who declares that her son was murdered.

Annapolis, Md., July 19.—The board of officers appointed to reinvestigate the death of Second Lieut. James Sutton of the Marine Corps, who was mysteriously shot in Annapolis on October 13, 1907, met here today to begin the taking of testimony.

The board is composed of Commanders John Wood, U. S. N.; Major W. C. Neville, U. S. N. C.; Lieut. H. M. Jensen, U. S. N.; and Major Henry Leonard, U. S. N. C. Judge Advocate-General.

Lieut. Sutton was killed by a pistol shot after an alleged quarrel with a brother officer. Sutton, accompanied by several other officers, was returning to the naval academy after attending a dance at Carvel Hall in Annapolis. A quarrel developed on the way, which later led to a fight. The evidence adduced by the first court of inquiry showed that Sutton went to his quarters and obtained his service revolver with the intention of shooting his antagonist. He fired at one of his former companions, Second Lieut. R. E. Adams, but did not strike him. Lieut. Roelker, another member of the party, went to Adams' assistance and was dazed by a bullet from Sutton's pistol, which struck Roelker in the chest but did not penetrate his body. Somebody called out "Roelker is dead!" Then Sutton, according to the evidence, drew another revolver and shot himself in the head. He was hurried to the Academy Hospital but died within a short time.

The court of inquiry held shortly after Lieut. Sutton's death decided that he had committed suicide. Mrs. James N. Sutton, the young officer's mother, was dissatisfied with the verdict of the court, and at her request the Navy department ordered a second investigation of the affair. One of the principal witnesses in the inquiry, Lieut. R. E. Adams, has recently been stationed at Fort Gt. N. J. Lieut. Roelker, who also figured prominently in the affair, disappeared shortly after the affair and his present whereabouts are said to be unknown.

There is no doubt that the investigating board which assembled today will make every effort to bring out the facts of the tragedy, and either substantiate the finding of the first board that Lieut. Sutton committed suicide that the public mind will be satisfied or bring to trial any who may have had hand in his death. If it should be found that it was by other than his own hand, William Owens, the chauffeur who drove the party on the fatal night, will be an important witness. He has stated positively that Sutton did not attack Lieut. Adams first, but that Lieut. Adams attacked Lieut. Sutton and repeated the attack before Lieut. Sutton agreed to fight him.

Other civilian witnesses will be at least two of the employees of Carvel Hall, where Lieut. Sutton and his brother officers attended a dance on the night of the tragedy. The employees will, it is reliably understood, contradict the testimony before the least two of the employees of Carvel matters and make statements tending to show that Lieut. Sutton was sought out by the other officers that night instead of forcing himself on them, as was understood.

SAXE-COBURG'S DUKE TWENTY-FIVE TODAY

Elaborate Celebration Marks the Birthday of Popular Young Ruler, Charles Edward.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Berlin, July 19.—A despatch from Coburg says that elaborate festivities were held here today in celebration of the twenty-fifth birthday of Charles Edward, the reigning duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The young ruler is exceedingly popular among his subjects and, although of English birth, being the only boy of Queen Victoria's youngest son, the late Duke of Albany, he is also a particular favorite of Emperor William. The emperor, in fact, superintended the completion of the young duke's education after he had been called to the throne of Saxe-Coburg.

Nerviest Man in All the World with Barnum and Bailey Circus.The climax of thrilling sensations has been reached by Desperado, a man absolutely without fear. He is one of the star features with the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth, which, on Friday, July 30, will exhibit in Janesville.Desperado is one of the world's mar-vels. His nerve is almost past belief, and the thrills that he causes are followed by a sigh of relief. Fortunately, the act is of short duration.
It would have to be; people could not stand the strain if it were prolonged beyond a few moments.A main feat, at the foot of this tall structure is built a small, narrow skid that forces the arc of a circle. Deperado mounts the top of the platform. Studying himself at the top most part for an instant, he places his hands above his head and then dives forward as would a swimmer about to enter the water. The thing looks like sure death. The nervous tension is great. To take one's eyes from the figure flying through space seems impossible. Where will the man land?
Desperado hits the chute on his chest.
There is a splash, and the next instant the man is standing up and howling to the people, whose surprise at his nerve and daring has made them spellbound.The act is one of the most sensational that has ever been performed by any individual. As a thriller, it has never been equaled anywhere in the world. Abroad Desperado's act created a sensation and it is doing the same thing here.This wonderful thriller is by no means the only one contained in the Barnum and Bailey Circus. There is big laughter, a horse ridden by a beautiful young woman, which is taken up in a balloon and descends in a shower of golden flowers.The big circus is full of thrills, and in its entirety, it is the most wonderful aggregation of awe-inspiring feats and acts that has ever been gotten together.DAXTER, Wisconsin, July 19.—

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD

Interesting Gathering Had Closed
After A Three Days' Session in the City.The excursion of the sessions of the state Loyol Temperance Legion will be brought to a close this evening with an address, entitled, "Personal Liberty," which will be delivered at the Baptist church by Mrs.
M. W. Law, of Milwaukee, state lecturer and organizer of the legion.
The lecture will begin promptly at eight o'clock.The last regular program of the convention was given last evening at the Baptist church. A fine program had been prepared and the audience which heard it, was very large. The meeting opened at 7:45 with a song service followed by a scripture reading by George Bishop and a prayer.The first address was that of Fred J. Holt of Janesville, who spoke on "The Making of a Life." Mr. Holt told of the attraction a saloon had for the boy after he has once entered
it. He told of his own experiences and observations during that time he acted as a newsboy in this city. Resisting temptation, he said strengthens the character rather than weakens it, and because a person yields once it is not a sign that they are going to the bad. He also spoke of the greater influence of drinking among women and girls than among men and warned them against it.The other talk was that of Mr. A.
Arnet Northrup, of Chicago, on "Character Building." Mr. Northrup spoke of the great benefit and help which the Legion rendered in leading people to live the right kind of a life. The evils of alcohol and tobacco were vividly described in his speech.Excellent musical numbers were furnished by Leonard Mathews and a quartette.Sunday morning Legion speakers occupied the pulpits at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. At the Methodist church, Mrs. M. A.
Law gave a splendid talk on juvenile courts and temperance subjects using statistics to prove the points made.At the Presbyterian church, Mr.
Northrup spoke, his subject being the same as at the evening service,
"Character Building."In the afternoon there was a meeting at the English Lutheran church led by Mrs. W. A. Lawson, state president. Following is the program:

SAY 800 DESERVE DEATH.

Court-Martial Would Punish 80,000 for Adana Massacres.Constantinople, July 19.—The report of the court-martial on the Adana massacres which has just been made public, is a strong denunciation of the incapacity and apathy of the vill and other local authorities. The report concludes as follows:
"Fifteen persons already have been hanged; 800 deserve death; 16,000 deserve hard labor for life; 80,000 deserve minor sentences. If it is decided to proceed with the punishment, we will cordon the town and deal expeditiously with the matter."In view, however, of the general reconciliation between the opposing elements, the report recommends that general amnesty be made the occa-

NAMES OF CANDIDATES IN GAZETTE'S VOTING CONTEST

event. The three plans to be given away are the celebrated Newman Bros. The instruments are of the highest standard. They have been manufactured for many years and are sold under guarantee in this by H. F. Nott. Call at his store and inspect them. The three diamond rings and three gold watches have been purchased from Olin & Olson. These diamonds are perfect white stones and the watches are 17 jewel Elgin movements in twenty-five years cases. The 12-month combined course business college scholarships have been purchased from the Janesville Business College and the winners of these practical prizes may attend either the Beloit or Janesville college.

You Can Win.

Any young lady is eligible to compete in this great contest and popular vote, as explained in this issue, will determine those who are successful.

This contest affords an excellent opportunity for the young ladies of Janesville and vicinity, to win either a plan, a handsome piece of jewelry or a business education at the expense of The Gazette.

The ambitious girl who is quick to realize the advantage of this exceptional opportunity should see that her name is sent to the contest manager, and follow the instructions that appear daily. And, remember, to win, you must receive the largest number of votes, according to the conditions of the contest.

After your nomination, call on and interest all your friends and by systematic and energetic action induce as many as possible, not only to cast their votes for you, but to interest their respective friends in your behalf.

The easiest and surest way to win is for candidates to ask their friends not only to save them the nomination blanks, but to settle arrangements or to prepare their subscriptions.

Your friends will be glad to accommodate you, as this costs the subscriber nothing extra.

The settlement of these subscriptions entitles you to a special ballot which can be voted any time during the contest.

Any person who desires to vote, in this contest, may do so by properly filling out and voting the coupons that appear in each issue of The Gazette, but these coupons are good for only ten days from date of publication and will not be counted after the date printed on them.

The special vote, ballots, which are issued for every subscription payment, may be cast any time during the contest, and they will count their full value for the candidate whose name they bear.

People living in one district may vote for a candidate that lives in another; they are not confined to their own particular district.

At the close of the contest the successful ones will receive orders from The Gazette for their respective prizes and they may use or dispose of them in accordance to their individual liking. They are transferable.

Instructions For Voting.

Send to the Contest Manager the name of the young lady whom you desire to nominate and secure one of these valuable prizes. The name of the party making the nomination will not be divulged if so desired.

With a little encouragement on your part she may win one of these elegant high-grade prizes, a beautiful diamond ring, a scholarship or a gold watch. See that her name is entered, then pledge her your hearty support.

Take the "early bird" much depends upon an early start; consequently names should be entered at once. Don't delay.

No candidate is barred because she is not at present or never has been a Gazette subscriber. This grave offense is forgiven the candidates, enter on the start; present your name at once and your host of friends will do the rest.

September 4.

The surprise of September 4 will be the fact that you won with such little amount of effort put forth on your part.

This issue of The Gazette contains the names of ladies competing, with their respective number of votes.

From now on, votes will be counted at 9 a. m. each day and the results of the count printed the following afternoon.

In behalf of those interested a short article will appear each day which will enable them to keep in close touch with the contest and those competing.

The articles will be brief and will not interfere with or crowd out the regular amount of high-class news, for which The Gazette is noted.

Each contestant is to receive this paper, free of charge, beginning from the date their name is presented to the Contest Manager and continuing up to the closing night of the contest.

Twelve young ladies of Janesville and vicinity are going to be made happy, and it is up to you, readers of Janesville and vicinity, to decide whom they are to be.

Kindly look for the page announcement in this issue.

Division of Territory.

The division of territory will be made as follows:

District No. 1 includes all territory inside of the city limits of Janesville.

District No. 2 includes all territory outside of the city limits of Janesville and west of Rock River.

District No. 3 includes all territory outside of the city limits of Janesville and east of the Rock River.

Nominations will be accepted after this date, but a great advantage is gained by having your name among those of the first announcements, as your friends may pledge their assistance to another candidate, not knowing of your intention.

The Securing of Ballots.

The selling of ballots will not be permitted.

Everyone is eligible to vote; all old subscribers, either paying back subscriptions or paying in advance, also new subscribers who pay in advance, are given a special ballot which is good any time during the contest.

The scale of votes which will appear in the page announcement of this issue, will determine the number of votes the subscriber is entitled to.

The coupons printed are good for their given amount.

The full amount of money must be brought to the office of The Gazette sent direct by mail to Contest Manager or paid local agents.

KILLS TWO TO SAVE LIFE.

Non-Union Man's Act Justified Says Chief of Police.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—After an investigation, Chief of Police Kohler says James J. Purvis, the non-union engineer of the steamer Centurion, who shot and killed Richard Brown and William Woods, sailors, here Saturday night, was justified in his action. "The men attacked Purvis, said Chief Kohler, and in his opinion, the engineer had a right to defend himself."

"Of course we shall arraign Purvis on the charge of murder," said the chief, "but I do not see how any judge can do other than discharge him."

ILLINOIS TOWNS FEEL QUAKE.

People Alarmed by Tremor in Central Part of State.

Bloomington, Ill., July 19.—A slight earthquake shock was reported at Mason City, 25 miles southwest of here, at 10:35 last night. Windows rattled, doors were shaken open, and hundreds of people rushed into the streets.

The shock was also felt at Havana, Petersburg, Pleasant Plains, Forest City, and Farmington.

No damage was reported from any of the towns.

TO ALL USERS OF FLOUR

We are now selling more Flour than any other one store in the city. Why? Because we are selling the

FALCON BRAND

which is one of the very best and from 10c to 25c per sack less.

We intend to sell a larger portion.

How? Commencing Monday, July

19, we will have a lady at our store to demonstrate to all just what the Flour is. That it is the equal, if not a little better than the Flour you are now using, we care not what the brand. She will be here all that week.

Every family using Flour is cordially invited to witness the demonstration and see for yourself. We claim to make just as white bread, just as sweet, and just as many loaves to the sack as any Flour in the city.

QUALITY OF FALCON

The Columbus Laboratories of Chicago made the following test using the best patent flour made as a standard by which to test Falcon:

CHICAGO, AUG. 25, 1908.
SHANNON & MOTT COMPANY, Des Moines, Iowa,
Dear Sirs: We beg leave to report on Comparative Flour Test as follows:

	Standard Spring Patent.	Sample Number 6941
Gluten—Per Cent	10.5	10.2
Ash—Per Cent	1.5	.35
Absorption—Per Cent	62	62
Color	100.0	100.0
Loaves Per Barrel	100.0	100.0
Size of Loaf	100.0	100.0
Quality of Loaf	100.0	100.0
Average Value	100.0	98.5
Permeating Period	100.0	191.6
Quality of Gluten	100.0	191.6

NOTE.—In the above report the gluten and the ash are expressed as parts in each one hundred parts of the flour. The absorption is the amount of water necessary to add to one hundred parts of the flour to make a dough of standard stiffness. The remaining values are so expressed as to show the relations to the standard flour which for the purpose is given a value of 100 per cent. The loaves produced are made under carefully controlled and uniform conditions and baked in accurately gauged baking cylinders in an electric oven. The value expressed as quality of loaf is based upon the color, flavor and texture of the bread. The AVERAGE VALUE expressed in per cent is the mean value, of color, loaves per barrel, size of loaf and quality of loaf. It should not be taken alone in comparing the value of flours, but each of the factors of which it is made up should receive consideration.

GENERAL REMARKS: 6941 is sample marked Falcon. AUG. 22, 1908. Very respectfully submitted,

THE COLUMBUS LABORATORIES.

FULLSOME PRAISE.

With all due respect to the management of the University of Wisconsin, they play the game of politics with a gusto. Not perhaps real genuine politics but still they are politics in their moves. At the recent commencement exercises one of the col-lators of Colliers weekly, a former University student by the way, was giving a degree. It was not much to stop and consider but then watch the results. Every issue since of the paper he helps edit, is filled with some reference, some photograph or some mention of the University of Wisconsin.
The last is a bit of fulsome praise for the University and for the state as well. That little degree has won more free advertising than a thousand dollars could have bought.
Of course we all know that the University of Wisconsin is one of the best institutions of learning in the country, that we are all proud of it and that every year it forges further and further ahead of its competitors.
We are all proud of the state that supports such an institution so that we can endorse Colliers attitude on this matter which is described in the following words.

"For the sake of free ideals, to insure academic liberty and good teaching, the president of a university should be unconscious of authority over him, and feel as confident of his tenure as if the institution were his private property. On the other hand, the physical and financial management of several millions worth of property demands trustees or regents who shall be capable business men.
In these trustees, ultimate control must always rest. If they happen to be men of aggressive personality they sometimes leave their proper domain and begin to trespass on purely academic ground, try to dictate on matters wholly educational, attempt even to curb the teaching. To this course there can be but one end. Something of the kind is said to be happening
behind the scenes at the University of Wisconsin. There, lately, some of the more powerful and active regents,
who are appointed by the Governor, have interfered in purely academic matters. Many friends of the university believe that these regents would, if they dared, depose President Van Hise. (They have already tried to curtail the Economics Department and after this character.)
It is true that the spirit of this university, and the graduates it has sent out, are responsible for much of the independence in Wisconsin politics,
the freedom from party domination,
the aggressive determination to control public utilities and conserve the State's resources. The regents in question are said to be bent upon a course which would change all this.
The University of Wisconsin is a wonderful institution, half university, half the living soul of a State. Happily, the people of Wisconsin know how wonderful it is. They will take care of their University."

UNPLEASANT FEATURES.

It is one of the unpleasant features of a newspaper to have to call attention to defects in municipal affairs or public corporations. The advertising of the short comings of the city instead of the bounding of the industries and advantages to be derived from residence here is not pleasant.
However attention of the city council—and of the citizens generally should be called to the deplorable condition of the street railway system. Its dilapidated cars, its antiquated equipment, its wretched service are a menace not only to the life and limb of citizens generally but to the future prosperity of the city itself.

It is up to the council to take some action on the matter. The remedy must be decided by the council but some action should be taken if only a warning to the Philadelphia owners that their franchise was in danger of being revoked unless they lived up to it.

Kentucky prosecutors have every incentive to zeal in the performance of their official duties. A corporation doing business in that state was recently fined $10,000, the state receiving about $4,000, the remainder going to officials participating in the trial.

However the rest of the country may regard him, Mr. Patton will probably continue a warm favorite in his home town, Evanston, Ill. Recently he told the tax assessors that his personal property should be assessed twice as much as last year.

While the Street is distressing itself to discover the reason for Mr.
Morgan's return, may it not be possible that the financier is coming back merely because New York is his home?

Pittsburg and the vicinity are having a taste of genuine civil war and blood flows as freely as did on the field of the Gettysburg but not in such quantities or for such a cause.

No more Shell letters are to be made public so that the foolish women who wrote rot to the need nationals to gain his approval and financial aid can rest in peace.

It is all the latest fad of the ultra-fashionable people in London is to go about with dirty faces. Property in tenement quarters ought to go up when this becomes known.

Speculators who bought wheat on the jump can not quite understand how the elements should have contributed together to defeat their wishes to become wealthy.

Mr. Taft lays down the law without a single contention of his features and in such a manner that his impossible not to understand his meaning.

After seeing one hundred and forty-eight warships in one bunch at one time Great Britain can safely go to sleep with one eye open at any rate.

Russia is perched on the fence to pay the part of Persia's little brother who gets all the pie while the big brother gets whipped for stealing it.

Persia has certainly wakened from a good long sleep. Now that it is fairly awake it should do lots to make up for lost time.

Patrick Cudahy, the packer, predicts the shortage of a million hogs this summer. Hope he means the subway kind.

The Minister of the United States will be able to find his way round the celestial kingdom without much trouble.

It certainly costs a lot for a President to travel, but when we have one the size of Taft it must cost extra.

is Hunt's itself.

comes no bill collector with a long ac-

be pumping it through pipe-lines and through meters pretty soon, and the Barberous.

One of the most unfortunate things of life is that men get into wrong places. Sometimes the fault is not their own. Possibly their attention has not been called to the fact by wiser men that they might be more successful at something else. For instance, a man who is a poor barber might be a good fish scaler.—Boston

Painless Dentistry

This A. M. a patient said as I extracted a badly decayed tooth, "Why, Doctor, that didn't hurt." "Of course not," said I. "Well, that's what I had heard, but I never believed it before."

You may never be able to believe it until you have faith enough to let me do your Dentistry.

It is a pleasure to me to see the look of relief upon my patients' faces when they discover that I really have not hurt them.

I know that my work is good work. I know that my prices are the most reasonable in the city.

My patients tell me that I hurt them the least of any Dentist they ever employed.

And these things are what I aim to keep doing and deserving.

HAS A PETITION TO THE COUNCIL

CITY ATTORNEY MAXFIELD FILES ONE RELATIVE TO STREET CAR LINE WITH CITY CLERK.

WOULD TAKE ACTIVE STEPS

Wants Council to Authorize Him to Start Proceeding With View of Revoking Their License.

This afternoon City Attorney Maxfield filed the following petition with the city clerk relative to the Janesville street railway asking that the council authorize him to begin proceedings against the company with a view of revoking their license if they do not live up to the letter of the franchise granted them several years ago. Mr. Maxfield's petition, which is as follows, will be presented to the council tonight:

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville, Gentlemen: I desire to call the attention of your honorable body to the deplorable, most unsightly and unsanitary condition of the Janesville Street Railway company's cars and equipment, which are a menace to the safety of our citizens, not only to those riding in the cars, but to the people traveling the streets over which they pass; that one of our citizens is even now lying at the point of death from injuries sustained while riding on one of the cars of this company; that owing to the dilapidated condition of the cars, an ordinary conversation cannot be carried on upon the sidewalks when one is passing along the street and that it is impossible to tell when one is going to break down or leave the tracks; that they are fit for nothing but the junk heap and a disgrace to the city. On several streets their trucks are below grade and the financial condition of the company renders them almost judgment-proof.

I am informed by a responsible party that if the present company was not encumbering our streets with its trucks and cars, another company is ready to install in our city, an adequate and safe railway system that would be a credit to its instead of a disgrace.

I therefore ask your honorable body to pass the annexed order authorizing me, as city attorney, to take the proper steps to secure better street railway service and accommodations for our city, and if unable to secure them from the present company, to bring action for the purpose of annulling the franchise granted to the Janesville Street Railway company.

Respectfully submitted,
H. L. MAXFIELD,
City Attorney.

$15.00 GOLD IN PRIZES

Falcon Flour Demonstration at the Fair Store.

Shannon & Mott Co., Millers have instituted a demonstration of their Falcon flour at the Fair Store that bids fair to be very novel and is already arousing the enthusiasm of many Janesville ladies. Tuesday they will serve light rolls and butter to all ladies who call, and a great number of small loaves of bread are to be baked and given away as long as they hold out.

A modern gas stove has been installed and a lady demonstrator is in charge. Falcon flour has the distinction of being one of the very best flours made, yet it sells at 10c to 15c per sack less than other good flours. The rising quality of Falcon flour is superior, owing to its strength, which at the same time gives the bread a rich, nutty flavor.

The $15.00 in gold is to be given in two prizes of $10.00 and $5.00 for the best loaf of bread and the second best loaf baked during the week. Every lady is given an opportunity to enter the contest. One lady who called at the demonstration today states the situation very concisely: "I am going to enter a loaf. I may win the prize. I cannot lose more than twice, because everybody can win."

The demonstration is to last all this week.

OLD BUILDINGS WERE CONSUMED BY FLAMES

Fire Destroyed Barn and Shed on Joseph Beasdel Property in Downtown District This Afternoon.

Fire, caused by sparks from near-by chimneys falling in some rubbish, destroyed a barn and a shed belonging to Joseph Beasdel, of Liverpool, England, partially destroyed the barn at the rear of the Grand hotel, used by Edward Welch for a stable for his horses; and damaged, to some extent, the tenement building used by I. Wikoditz, junk dealer, as a rooming place and storehouse for rags. Surrounding buildings were placed in danger of burning. The loss will probably be between three and four hundred dollars.

The fire was first noticed shortly after one o'clock. A still alarm being sent into the station and then an alarm from one of the alarm boxes. The fire started in some paper or scraps of hay that lay on the floor of the barn used by Wikoditz for keeping his horses. It spread to a half of hay and soon the entire structure, which was as dry as tinder, was a mass of flames. When the department arrived the fire had communicated to some of the surrounding sheds and all were blazing brightly.

Connections were quickly made for five leads of hose, three of which were necessary to prevent the blaze from spreading further and setting fire to the blocks in the vicinity. The streams were then directed to the burning buildings and by two o'clock the fire had been quenched, although smoking slightly yet. After the fire was under control the shed and barn on the Beasdel property, having been entirely cut off by the flames and of no value, practically, were pulled down to prevent them from catching again.

In the Grand hotel barn two tons of hay had been stored but a day or so before, but this was only partially destroyed. A shed belonging to Wikoditz was also burned. The heat of the fire scorched brick and charred window sashes and porches in the nearby blocks.

Mrs. Andrew Gibson, who was one of the first to see the fire ran out into the alley and pulled a wagon belonging to the junk dealer to a place of safety. About five minutes later, the nervous excitement and the smoke were too great for her and she fainted away. Oscar Erickson, who was using a small hose to sprinkle the roof of the True Steam Laundry and prevent the fire from spreading to that building, slipped and fell and cut his hand on a piece of glass.

MRS. MARGARET POEY DIED THIS MORNING

Mother of Thomas S. Nolan Died at Her Home After An Illness of Five Years.

Mrs. Margaret Coos Poe, relict of Thomas Poe, a well known and respected resident of Janesville and Rock county for over fifty-five years, died at her home, 520 Fifth avenue, this morning at 5:30, aged seventy-eight years.

Mrs. Poe was born in Mountbelleck, Queens County, Ireland, May 10, 1821. In 1854 she came to this country where she resided until her death. She was married twice. Thomas S. Nolan, attorney of this city, and Mrs. Walter E. Fernald, of Boston, Mass., children by the first marriage; and Mrs. George E. Lynch, of Milwaukee, a child by the second marriage, survive her.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS

BROOKHEAD.
Brookhead, July 17.—Misses Grace Thompson, Mabel Lacey and the Misses Boddy, who are attending summer school at Monroe, came down Friday evening to spend Saturday at home. Clayton McSitt also came. Miss Mabel Kinney of Milwaukee is here camping at Decatur Lake with a party of friends from Lancaster. Miss Jessie Thompson, who has been spending the week in Albany, returned home last evening.

Mr. G. W. Myers was a visitor in Albany last evening.

While going up the steps to enter the home on Thursday, Mr. Wm. Kirtz accidentally fell, striking his head on the edge of a tank, cutting off the top of his ear, making quite a painful, though not serious wound.

Mrs. W. H. Deolittle is reported as quite sick at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Barr.

Messers and Messdames Elmer Emminger and O. G. Guelson are camping at Decatur Lake.

"Duke," the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bailey, while playing with some companions on Friday in some unaccountable manner got a fish hook caught in his waist at the left shoulder and then through the lobe of his left ear. Not a word did utter while a friend extracted it, nor did he cry, although the blood ran freely and after it was over went on playing as though it was nothing unusual.

Mrs. Homer White and Miss Ina Robey were passengers to Janesville Friday.

Unless rain comes soon corn on Sad Prairie will be not a little damaged. "Duke" is standing the drought well but rain must come to make it a full crop.

The ladies of the M. E. church will serve supper on Wednesday instead of dinner as advertised. In Brookhead's Annex. Supper ready at five o'clock to be served until all are fed.

Invitations are out for a well card party to be given by Mesdames L. W. Terry, J. L. Fleck, W. W. Rodrick and Mr. Broderick on Monday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock, at the home of the former.

MONROE.
Monroe, Wis., July 18.—Casper Oswald, of this city, is one of nine left of a colony of seventy persons that left Glarus, Switzerland, in 1847 and it is believed that the oldest settlers of the village now living were members of this colony. The others who are left are Fred Blum and Mrs. Maria Gogger, of New Glarus; Frederick Becker, of Woodstock, Ill.; Casper Leckensinger, of Glarusville, N. Y. There were only half a dozen houses in New Glarus at that time and very few houses in Green county. Mr. Oswald worked out for $2 a month in the summer time, and New Glarus settlers worked on a dam at Attica, the principal point outside of Monroe, at 50 cents a day and took their pay in flour.

The school census of Union school district, comprising the city of Monroe and some outlying territory, has been completed and shows a total of 1145 children of school age. Of this number 495 are between the ages of seven and fourteen. All but three of these who are students at the Delavan deaf school were in school this past year.

Chas. Hoelker, who brought a civil suit for damages against Albert Pelt, another farmer of Jordan township for damages because of an assault, was awarded $25.

Mr. and Mrs. John Strahm, Misses Alma Hovey and Laura Hovey, together with Arthur Etter went to Lake Kegonsa today for a week's stay in the C. L. Scheeply cottage at Park Monroe.

Ralph Miller was here from Chicago to spend Sunday. He is employed in the wholesale store of John C. Farwell & Co.

Mrs. John Thoroughgood and Mrs. Allen Kimball returned to Janesville after a visit to Mrs. D. H. Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stauffer returned Saturday to their home at Cedar Rapids, Ia., after a visit to relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Heeren and son, Roy, have one to German Valley, Ill., to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bluhm, of Denver, who have been visiting relatives here, left Saturday for a lake trip and outfit at Mackinac Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mitchell are visiting relatives at Janesville. Belva and Broderick for a few days.

Mrs. L. A. Woodie is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Vera Hemmingway, at Janesville.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

DIVIDE my feminine acquaintances into two classes—the women who can walk and the women who can't.

And the more I think about it the more I am inclined to believe that the difference between the two is not a question of the presence or absence of health, but of the absence or presence of two inches of leather.

Every fraction of an inch added to the lift of the common walking shoe takes just so many horsepower of energy away from a woman's daily strength.

I have proven to myself again and again that ten miles in a walking shoe is about equivalent to one in French heels.

From the modern point of view, of course, the high heel is daintier and more graceful. But the true grace—the grace of the Greek and Egyptian, the grace that sculptors have made immortal, is the grace of the heel-less shoe. Lolo Fuller, one of the greatest dancers in the world, dances barefoot or with sandals.

None of us have much strength to spare. Some of us have absolutely none. If there are any leaks in our efficiency we certainly want to find them.

Why not make a few experiments and find out if our high heels are one leak?

"Miss Cameron," said the newly engaged girl to me, "let me show you the nicest engagement present I had."

I knew the little girl had several wealthy friends and looked for some massive piece of cut glass or silver or a bit of fine linen.

"Of course I love them all," she corrected herself as she dived into her chest, "but if it isn't horrid to do it I really think I like those best."

And she came up from her dive with an armful of aprons.

No, not dainty muslin affairs, but huge gingham ones, the top-to-toe kind.

"You see," she explained, as she stuck her arms into one of them and stood proudly displaying herself in this homely garb, "I suppose I would have bought some but they wouldn't have lasted as long or have been half so nice as these."

Some of us in gloves that we cannot give away as wedding gifts to our young friends. We really have no idea how much a simple gift that just fits a life often means.

Perhaps you know it already, but I didn't until yesterday, so I am going to risk it.

Welsh rabbit can easily be heated over and made as good as new. Most people after they have eaten the very last cracker or toast full of rabbit that they possibly can, throw the remnants away if there are any.

This is quite unnecessary.

The woman who brought me the good news said she quite frequently made double quantity for Saturday evening festivals and heated it over for Sunday night lunch, thus saving herself much bother at a time when one particularly does not want to be bothered.

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 19, 1869.—Went Off With Flying Colors.—The Concordia Society started off today for their picnic grounds with banners flying and was preceded by the Howard City band. They will no doubt have a splendid time.

Temperance Meeting at the Rink.—The temperance meeting at the Rink yesterday was well attended by an audience which seemed to be much interested. Addresses were made by Reverends Dodge, Strong and Kribbaum.

Rascality.—During the absence of Mr. Ross and family, in Iowa, on the occasion of the recent murder of a brother of Mr. R., his home was entered and things were turned upside down generally. Nothing was taken, however, so far as can be ascertained, except a set of furs.

A Hoax.—The story of the capture of a gang of counterfeiters near this city, published by the Chicago Tribune on Saturday, has foundation, we think, only in the brain of the author of the dispatch. At any rate, no one here knows anything of such a transaction.

Police Court.—This court has been occupied for the past four or five days with a civil case from the town of Bradford. One Patrick Timlin, a well-digger, brought suit against one James Cutter, a farmer, claiming nine dollars, balance due for digging a well. The defendant set up the defense that the well was not completed as soon as it should be, by which he sustained damages, and called for a jury, which was duly summoned, and the case tried before them, but they failed to agree; a second jury was summoned and they also disagreed. This morning the parties appeared in CHAPTER XII. THE LANTERN ABOVE.

CHANCE sat for hours on his porch that night gazing down upon the chateau. Lights gleamed in a hundred of its windows. The bitterness of his own isolation, the ostracism that circumstance had forced upon him, would have been maddening on this night had not all rancor been tempered by the glorious achievement in the market place. He wondered if the princess knew what he had dared and what he had accomplished in the early hours of the night. He wondered if they had pointed out his solitary light to her—if now and then she bestowed a casual glance upon that twinkling star of his. The porch lantern hung almost directly above his head.

The chateau was indeed the home of revelry. The point up, struggling spirits of those who had dwelt therein for months in solitude arose in the wild stampede for freedom. All petty differences between Lady Deppingham and Drusilla Browne, and her, were quite common now, were forgotten in the whirlwind of relief that came with the strangers from the yacht. Mrs. Browne's good looking, eager husband revolved in the prospect of this delicious night, this almost Arabian night. He was swept off his feet by the radiant princess, the Schaherazade of his boyhood dreams. His little heart thumped as it had not done since he was a boy. The Duchess of S. and the handsome Marchioness of B. came into his life, hungry life at a moment when it most needed the light. It was he who fairly dragged Lady Agnes aside and proposed the banquet, the dance, the concert—everything—and it was he who carried out the hundred spasmodic instructions that she gave.

Late in the night, long after the dinner and the dances, the tired but happy company flocked to the picturesque hanging garden for rest and the last refreshment.

The hanging garden was a wonderfully constructed open air pleasure suspended between the chateau itself and the great cliff in whose shadow it stood. The cliff towered at least 300 feet above the roof of the spreading chateau, a veritable stone wall that extended for a mile or more in either direction.

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bleed, and suffer from bearing-down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—Miss MAY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

but always inaccessible. A small stationary bridge crossed the vicious stream immediately below the hanging garden and led to the ladders by which one ascended to the caverns that ran far back into the mountain.

Two big black irregular holes in the face of the cliff marked the entrance to these deep, rambling caves, wonderful caverns wrought by the convulsions of the dead volcano, cracks made by these splintering earthquakes when the island was new.

The garden hung high between the building and the cliff, swung by a score of great steel cables. These cables were riveted solidly in the solid rock of the cliff at one end and fastened as safely to the stone walls of the chateau at the other. It swung stanchly from its moorings with the constancy of a suspension bridge and trembled at the slightest touch.

It was at least a hundred feet square. The floor was covered with a foot or more of soil, in which the rich grass and plants of the tropics flourished. Cool fountains sprayed the air at either end of the green inclosure. The illusion was complete.

The walls surrounding the garden were three feet high and were intended to represent the typical English garden wall of brick. To gain access to the hanging garden one crossed a narrow bridge which led from the second balcony of the chateau. There was not an hour in the day when protection from the sun could not be found in this little paradise.

Bobby Browne was holding forth with his usual exuberance on the magnificence of the British navy.

"There she is now, sleeping out there in the harbor, a great big thing with the kindest of hearts inside of those steel ribs—her majesty's ship the King's Own! Think of it! She conveys a private yacht, she stops off at this beautiful island to catch her breath and to see that all are safe, then she charges off into the horizon like a bird that has no home. May I offer you a cigarette, princess? By the way, I wonder how Chass came off with his side show."

"Saunders tells me that he was near to being butchered, but luck was with him," said Deppingham. "His ship came home."

"It was a daring trick. I'm glad he pulled it off. He's a man, that fellow," said Browne. "So, princess, away up there in the mountain is his home. There's a light. See it? He keeps rather late hours, you see."

"Tell me about him," said the princess suddenly. She arose and walked to the vine covered wall, followed by Bobby Browne.

"I don't know much to tell you," said he. "He's made an enemy or two, and they are trying to drive him out. We've asked him down here just because we can't bear to think of a fellow creature wasting his days in utter loneliness, but he has so far declined with thanks. The banders are beginning to hate him. They distrust him, Britt says. Of course you know why we are here. You?"

"Every one knows, Mr. Browne. You are the most interesting quartet in the world just now. Every one is wondering how it is going to end. What a pity you can't marry Lady Agnes!"

"Oh, I say," protested Browne. She laughed merrily.

"But how dull it must be for Mr. Chass! Does he complain?"

"I can't say that he does. Britt—that's my lawyer—tells me he's never heard a murmur from him. He takes his medicine with a smile. I like that sort of fellow, and I wish he'd be a little more friendly."

"He has learned to know and keep his place," said she coolly. "Perhaps she was thinking of his last night in the palace garden. Away up there in the darkness gleamed his single, lonely, pathetic little light. 'Isn't it rather odd,' Mr. Browne, that his light should be burning at 2 o'clock in the morning? Is it his custom to sit up?"

"I've never noticed it before, now you speak of it. I hope nothing serious has happened to him. He may have been injured in— I say, if you don't mind, I'll ask some one to telephone up to his place."

"Yes, do telephone," she broke in. "I am sure, Lady Deppingham, will approve. No, thank you. I will stand here awhile. It is cool, and I love the stars."

Five minutes later he returned to her, accompanied by Lady Agnes. She was still looking at the stars.

"Lady Deppingham called him up," said Bobby.

"And he answered in person," said her ladyship. "He seemed strangely agitated for a moment or two. Geneva, and then he laughed—yes, laughed in my face, although it was such a long way off. I asked him if he was ill or had been hurt. He said he never felt better in his life and hadn't a scratch. He laughed—I suppose to show me that he was all right. Then he asked me to thank you for bringing a warship. You saved his life. Really one would think you were quite a heroine or a goddess or something like that. I never heard anything sweeter than the way he said good night to me. There."

The light in the bungalow bobbed mysteriously for an instant and then went out.

"How far is it from here?" asked the princess abruptly.

"Nearly two miles as the crow flies, only there are no crows here. Five miles by the road, I fancy. Isn't it, Bobby? I call him Bobby, you know, when we are all on good terms. I don't see why I shouldn't if you stop to think how near to being married to each other we are at this very instant."

"I wonder if help could reach him quickly in the event of an attack."

"It could if he'd have the kindness to notify us by phone," said Browne.

"But he wouldn't telephone to us," said Lady Deppingham carefully. "He's not so communicative as that."

"Surely he would call upon you for help if he—"

"You don't know him, Geneva."

"The princess smiled in a vague sort of way. 'I've met him quite informally. If you remember.'"

"I should say it was informally. It's the most delicious story I've ever heard. You must tell it to Mr. Browne, dear. It's all about the enemy in Thorburn, Mr. Browne. There's your wife calling, Bobby. She wants you to tell that story again about the blimp-op who rang the doorbell."

The next morning the captain of the King's Own came ashore and was taken to the chateau for dejeuner. Late in the afternoon the marquis and his party, saying farewell to the princess and the revived legation, put out to the yacht and stammered away in the wake of the great warship. The yacht was to return in a month to pick up the princess.

Geneva, her maids, her men and her boxes, her poodle and her dachshund were left behind for the month of March—not without adieu. It must be said, for the marquis, her uncle, was not disposed to look upon the island situation as a spot of long confinement.

RAPID ROCKEFELLER.

Bishop Williams of Michigan Assails

Millionaire's Bible Teaching.

New York, July 18.—Right Rev. Charles D. Williams, Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Michigan, in a sermon at St. Bartholomew's said he wondered if John D. Rockefeller, Jr., "ever read the Bible which he professes to teach."

He referred to young Mr. Rockefeller not by name, but as "a son of wealth who recently applied to human relations the figure of the gardener's treatment of a rosebush, when he cuts off all but the hardest buds. And that doctrine," the bishop added, "was advanced, not in a board meeting, but before a Bible class. They say a rose by any other name will smell as sweet, but the odor of that rose smacks strongly to me of petroleum."

Robber Shot by Companions Dies

Without Giving Their Names.

Columbus, O., July 18.—A very "private" middle age, giving his name as John Brown and his home Nebraska, who said he had been tramping over the country for years, died in St. Francis hospital from a bullet wound sustained in a quarrel with two confederates in a street holdup which had occurred a short time before.

They had secured a watch and a small amount of money and had gone to a rear room of a South side saloon to divide their spoils. John Nolan, a bartender who tried to lead off the two fleeing men after the shooting of Brown was himself wounded. Brown was told at the hospital that he was dying, but he refused to give the names of his confederates.
